Twelve Years

When the woman with a hemorrhage learned that the Lord said to the leader of the synagogue, "Believe, and your daughter will live," she thought to herself that he who could bring back the soul of a little girl of twelve into her body would also be able to take away an illness of twelve years and expel it from the body. When she heard him say, "Believe firmly and your daughter will live," this woman reflected, "I can give the faith he requires as the price." The healing came forth from his mouth, and he negotiated as its price the faith expressed by the woman's mouth. He gave clear healing and demanded a clear price. The healing that came out from his lips could be heard publicly, and he required from the lips a faith openly professed. Although the woman professed before everyone, they did not believe her, especially since her pains were hidden. When the Lord opened the eyes of the blind man, they called him a madman, and when he restored Lazarus to life, certain people, even among those who had seen for themselves, did not believe. This is why he restored the little girl of twelve years to life. He who was able to put the continued vitality of twelve years in the body back into its place was also able to arrest and banish from its place a flow of blood that continued for twelve years. He who was able to alleviate one illness was also able to banish another. He who was able to vivify all the dead members of this little girl was also able to heal the woman's womb.

Celebrating our patron, St. Michael

Each time we profess our faith by reciting the Creed in the Divine Liturgy or in some of the other services, we proclaim that God is “the Creator of heaven and earth; of all things visible and invisible.” Before the creation of the physical world, God created the spiritual. Angels are bodiless and immortal spirits gifted with a mind, will and strength. God created an innumerable multitude of them. They differ among themselves according to the degree of perfection and the type of service, and are divided into nine orders. The highest of these are called the seraphim, cherubim and archangels. All the angels were created good, so that they would love God and one another, and that they might have from this life of love, continual and great joy. God did not will to make them love by force, and therefore, He left it up to the angels to decide for themselves – whether they wised to love Him to live in God, or not.

One, the highest and mightiest angel, whose name was Lucifer, became proud of his might and power. He did not wish to love God and fulfill the will of God, but desired himself to become like God. He began to whisper against God, to oppose and disagree with Him in all things, and he became a dark, evil spirit – the devil, satan. The word devil means slanderer, and the word satan means the adversary of God and all that is good. This evil spirit tempted and took with him many other angels who also became evil spirits and are called demons. Then one of the highest archangels, Michael, came forth against satan and said: “Who is equal to God? There is none like God!” And there was a war in heaven: Michael and his angels made war against satan; and satan and his demons made ware against them (Rv 12:7 ff). Evil power could not stand against the angels of God. Satan, together with his demons, fell like lightning into the nether regions, hades. Hades, or the nether region, is the name for the place of separation far from God, where the evil spirits now dwell. There they are tormented in their malice, beholding their powerlessness against God. All of them, because of their refusal to repent, have become so confirmed in evil that they can no longer be good. They strive by deceit and cunning to tempt every person, whispering false ideas and evil desires in order to bring him/her to damnation. Join us for our Patronal Divine Liturgy this Tuesday, November 8th at 6:00 p.m. (St. Michael, Hermitage, 10:00 a.m.)

National Vocation Awareness Week

National Vocation Awareness Week, celebrated November 6-12th, is an annual week-long celebration of the Catholic Church in the United States dedicated to promote vocations to the priesthood, diaconate and consecrated life through prayer and education, and to renew our prayers and support for those who are considering one of these particular vocations. In his Message for the World Day of Prayer for Vocations, Pope Francis, reiterating his call for the Church to become increasingly synodal, compared the diversity of vocations in the Church to that of a beautiful mosaic. “As Christians, we do not only receive a vocation individually; we are also called together. We are like the tiles of a mosaic. Each is lovely by itself, but only when they are put together do they form a picture. Each of us shines like a star in the heart of God and in the firmament of the universe. At the same time, though, we are called to form constellations that can guide and light up the path of humanity, beginning with the places in which we live. This is the mystery of the Church: a celebration of differences, a sign, and instrument of all that humanity is called to be.” You are strongly encouraged daily this week to pray that people answer the call of our Lord to serve the church as priests, deacons and consecrated men and women.

PRAYER BEFORE AN ELECTION

Lord God, as the election approaches, we seek to better understand the issues and concerns that confront our city/state/country, and how the Gospel compels us to respond as faithful citizens in our community. We ask for eyes that are free from blindness so that we might see each other as brothers and sisters, one and equal in dignity, especially those who are victims of abuse and violence, deceit and poverty. We ask for ears that will hear the cries of children unborn and those abandoned, Men and women oppressed because of race or creed, religion or gender. We ask for minds and hearts that are open to hearing the voice of leaders who will bring us closer to your Kingdom. We pray for discernment so that we may choose leaders who hear your Word, live your love, and keep in the ways of your truth as they follow in the steps of Jesus and his Apostles and guide us to your Kingdom of justice and peace. Amen.
