The Samaritan Woman

The Fourth Gospel, attributed to Saint John the Evangelist, is used exclusively from Easter until Pentecost for the Sunday readings. The first chapter of John's Gospel is the proclamation used for the Divine Liturgy on Easter itself. This week, we are reminded of the story of Christ's encounter with the Samaritan woman at the well of Jacob, and thereby Christ's fulfillment of the Old Testament. In one of the many unique stories of the Fourth Gospel not found in the Synoptics (Matthew, Mark or Luke), Jesus reveals himself as Messiah to this woman of Samaria and talks with her about the "water that I will give will become ... a spring of water gushing up to eternal life."

In the early days of His ministry, Jesus travels back and forth between Galilee and Jerusalem, and must pass through Samaria. The Samaritans were outcast Jews because they were not subject to the Babylonian exile of the Israelites from other provinces. Therefore, when Jesus talks with this Samaritan woman, His disciples are surprised and in shock that He would carry on a conversation with a woman at the well, let alone a Samaritan. But as the story is explained, the woman's testimony about Jesus spreads through the nearby town, and because of her many come to hear His teachings. After hearing His word, they come to believe in Him, and proclaim Him "the Savior of the world." (Jn 4:42)

With water as the focal point of this encounter, we are once again reminded of our Baptism, and that Christ's Baptism is that of "eternal life" through "living water."

The 5th Paschal Sunday Today

The story of the Samaritan woman is another example of Our Lord Jesus proclaiming the Good News in a place where it was least expected, to people not expected to receive the message. In the Samaritan Woman, Jesus chose to overcome the prejudice of the Jewish people against the Samaritans. The Samaritans were viewed by the Jews as traitors, as people who were not worthy of the salvation of God. And yet Jesus chose her to reveal Himself as the Living Water. Many of us have a pre-conceived notion of what a saint and an apostle is supposed to be like. It usually is a notion that sees them as merely holy people, with a rather milky-white view of the world. Instead, Jesus chooses not the "holy" in the eyes of the world, but the simple and earthy to share His message. The Samaritan woman certainly would not be seen as a "saint" in the view of most people. As a widow five times, she certainly wouldn't be viewed as a "good catch" among the Samaritans. And "living with a man not her husband" clearly portrays her as a sinner, and not a disciple of the Lord God. Yet Jesus chooses to reveal Himself to this sinner. We, too, can fall into the trap of believing that only certain people will listen to the Good News of the Living Water of Christ. But everyone needs to hear the Good News of Jesus Christ. No matter what our station is in life, we are all called to share the Good News of the Savior of the World. No matter what we have done in this world, no matter what our sins may be, Jesus is really ready to share himself with us and call upon us to share Him with others. Let us listen to the Word of the Lord God and share the truth of the Living Waters with everyone we meet.
