Two Miracles Attest that Jesus is the Resurrection and Life

Christ foreknew His mystery, even before the foundations of the world. It was in the last ages of the world that He arose for the inhabitants of earth. Having borne the sin of the world, He abolished both it and death, which is its consequence and was brought upon us by its means. He plainly said, "I am the resurrection and the life," and "he who believes in me has everlasting life, and shall not come into judgment, but has passed from death unto life." We will see this fulfilled in facts. The ruler of the synagogue of the Jews came near and, embracing the Savior's knees, begged Him to deliver his daughter from the bonds of death. Look, she already was brought down to this and was in extreme danger! The Savior consented and set out with him. He was even hurrying on to the house of the one who invited Him and was aware that what was being done would profit many of those who followed Him and would also be for His own glory. On the way, He saved the woman who was the victim of a severe and incurable malady. No one could stop her issue of blood that ruined the art of physicians. No sooner had she touched the hem in faith, than He immediately healed her. A miracle so glorious and revealed was, so to speak, the work merely of Christ's journey.

The Feast of St. Michael & all Angels

Today, November 8th, is a day where we commemorate Archangel Michael and the heavenly angels. The Byzantine Catholic Church believes in angels. Isn't it strange that, in our materialistic world, where many conclude that the only real things are those we experience with our five senses, they, nevertheless, are intrigued with angels?

Our Church teaches us that there is another realm of reality, just as actual, just as factual, just as substantial as anything we see, hear, touch, taste, or smell in this world. There are legions of angels "a heavenly host" helping us, for which the world has no counter-measures (c.f. Hebrews 1:14). The psalmist David referred to them as a force of thousands of thousands of chariots (Psalm 68:17). We cannot see God nor His angels with our natural eyes. But they are there, whether we see them or not. Faith is the means by which we are able to "see" this invisible world. That is belief's true function. Faith is to the spiritual realm what the five senses are to the natural realm. Saint Paul says that faith is "the evidence of things not seen" (Hebrews 11:1). Through faith, we recognize the existence of the spiritual world and learn to depend on the Lord for his help in our daily life. "The angel of the Lord encamps all around those who fear Him, and delivers them." (Psalm 34:7)

Yes, the Byzantine Catholic Church believes that we all have a guardian angel for as we read in Psalm 91:11 "He shall give His angels charge over you, to keep you in all your ways." We must remember that whatever we do, openly or in private, we do in the presence of our guardian angel and that, on the Day of Judgement, the great hosts of the heavenly angels will be gathered around the throne of Christ, and the thoughts, words and deeds of every one of us will be lay bare before them. May God have mercy on us and protect us through the prayers of the holy Archangel Michael and all the bodiless powers of heaven!

Pope Leo's message for young people

Pope Leo XIV urged young people not to be "couch potatoes" adding that the Church needs their missionary energy and holy rebelliousness. "Jesus doesn't want you to be 'young couch potatoes,' complacent or content with the comfort of 'that's just the way it's always been done,'" Pope Leo said. The pope urged young people to "feel the call to be missionaries in your schools, your universities, on your streets and in your fields." The Church "needs your holy rebelliousness, your pure energy, and your desire to transform situations of suffering into spaces of hope," the pope said. "Serve with joy, especially the most forgotten, for that is where the suffering face of Jesus is found." Pope Leo pointed to the example of St. Carlo Acutis, encouraging young people never to lose the "missionary zeal that is indispensable for transforming this world, which so desperately needs the Gospel."

"In our day, there are still many people who need to know that it is Jesus who answers their deepest longings, revealing to human beings the truth about themselves." "Therefore, proclaim with courage that a life without Christ is a life without grace! He is the way, the truth and the life; it is he who gives meaning to existence and to all things."

"Let us draw inspiration from the example of St. Carlo Acutis: He shows us how to keep Christ always at the center, even in our use of technology," Pope Leo urges them to use social media and artificial intelligence "in a moderate and disciplined way," and warning that such tools can pull people into "an unreal world where the ephemeral, mere appearances, and deception end up taking the place of true values and what really matters." He added, "Do not be afraid of Christ! He takes nothing away, and he gives you everything." 'Harness your restlessness'. "Do not be afraid of the restlessness within you! Make the most of its drive to draw even closer to Christ and to bear witness to the values of the Gospel," the pope said.

Our St. Michael Parish wishes a
HAPPY 101st BIRTHDAY to
MARGE SHABELLA, November 8th!
May God grant her many years!

Happy Veteran's Day on Wednesday

Each year on November 11th, our nation pauses to celebrate Veterans Day, a time to honor the brave men and women who have served in the United States Armed Forces. It is a day to recognize their courage, sacrifices, dedication, and commitment to protecting the freedoms we enjoy. The history of Veterans Day dates back to the end of World War I. Fighting officially ceased on November 11, 1918, at the eleventh hour of the eleventh day of the eleventh month, when the armistice between the Allied nations and Germany took effect. The anniversary became known as Armistice Day. In 1938, Congress officially established November 11 as a national holiday dedicated to honoring t he veterans of World War I. Following World War II and the Korean War, Americans recognized the need to honor all those who had served in the nation's military. In 1954, President Dwight D. Eisenhower signed legislation changing the name from Armistice Day to Veterans Day, expanding the observance to honor American veterans of every generation. Veterans Day is sometimes confused with Memorial Day, but the two have different purposes. Memorial Day remembers those who died while serving our country, while Veterans Day honors all who have served in the military, whether in wartime or peacetime, living or deceased. As a parish community, we recognize that military service often involves great personal sacrifice—not only for those who wear the uniform but also for their families and loved ones. We are grateful to the veterans among us, to those who have returned home, and to the families who have supported them throughout their service. As people of faith, we are also called to pray for peace, to care for those who carry the physical and emotional wounds of war, and to remember those who continue to serve our country today.

Blessing of Veterans next weekend
